

Europe Endless

Europe is my life, my wife, and two-month-old daughter the liberating absence of checkpoints at the border it is bookshops in Paris, beer in Prague thermal baths in Budapest, Escher in Den Hague

it is three years spent living in Amsterdam cycling on the right and commuting by tram

Europe is krautrock and Greek prog

Tintinabuli from Estonia

Kings Cross and Krakow, Coventry and Catalonia

24 official languages spoken from the heart

Europe is pulling itself together again after two wars tore it apart